John J. Vail, Treasurer of the Y. M. C. A., and formerly cashier of the wrecked Commercial Bank in Brooklyn, was released from Raymond Street Jail this morning, bail having been fixed by Judge Moore, of the Court of Sessions, at $40,000. Vail was not taken to the Court of Sessions this morning. Lawyer Adolph Bimlin, Jr., appeared for the prisoner. Mr. Sims asked Judge Moore to fix bail in order that the prisoner might be released. "The Grand Jury," said Assistant District Attorney Clark, "has found that Cashier Vail was guilty of other crimes besides this one of perjury charged in the indictment. There will be two more indictments found against the prisoner, charging him with forgery in the third degree."

"These indictments," continued Mr. Clark, "are based on the discovery that while Cashier of the Commercial Bank Vail made alterations in the books of the institution by erasures and false entries in the accounts of Paul C. Grening and G. L. Hassell, amounting to $100,000. Indictments have not yet been drawn, but they will be ready next week. For this reason, while the District Attorney does not object to the prisoner's counsel for bail, he asks that bail be placed at a large amount, so as to insure the prisoner's appearance on all three charges."

"The amount may be divided when the other indictments are brought," asked Judge Moore. "What amount would you suggest?" asked Judge Moore. "I suggest $40,000 for the charge of perjury and $30,000 more for the other two charges."

Mr. Sims objected to this, but Judge Moore cut him off short in his speech and fixed the amount at $40,000, making $70,000 on the perjury charge and $30,000 for the other two.

Mr. Sims said Judge Moore, "The amount may be divided when the other indictments are brought in." "The amount may be divided when the other indictments are brought in," said Judge Moore. "The amount may be divided when the other indictments are brought in," said Judge Moore.
